

The first in a collection of green hotels launched by the Terra Resort Group, Hotel Terra Jackson Hole offers the exceptional amenities and services expected from boutique hotels, combined with environmentally sustainable building and operating practices.

Examples of environmentally sound elements in Hotel Terra:

- 100% organic cotton bed linens, towels, bath mats, bathrobes
- Use of 100% organic products in the Spa.
- Wind power accounts for more than 35% of power purchased for the Hotel.
- State of the art, energy efficient heating and cooling systems, designed to customize temperature by individual zones in each guest room or suite, limiting use to specific need.
- Energy Star approved, extremely efficient windows, with Low E, a highly reflective coating that protects interiors from infrared light. This keeps heat inside during the winter and outside during the summer, reducing the need for energy used for supplemental heat or cooling.
- Water conservation systems: dual flush toilets, low flow water fixtures, waterless urinals in Men's public restrooms, and native landscaping requiring no irrigation -accounts for a 34% reduction in water use.
- Fly ash, a coal burning byproduct, is used to replace up to 25% of the cement used in the concrete for the building, reducing landfill disposal of solid waste, energy used to produce the concrete, and the use of natural resources that would otherwise be used in concrete.
- Chemical free cleaning and laundry products used throughout.
- More than 90% of the hotel interiors capture natural daylight and have access to outdoor views.

- Exclusive use of non-CFC producing refrigerants.
- 80% Recycled content in the steel used throughout the building structure.
- 50% of construction waste will be reused or recycled.
- In addition, Hotel Terra uses renewable or recycled materials, including reclaimed lumber, bamboo, marble or granite chips, crushed glass, teak, and even seatbelts in finishes throughout the Hotel.
